*M*y peace plan starts from the level of the individual. First, we must find peace with God, then peace with our fellowman, and finally we can secure world peace. What our world needs today to save itself is a spectacular spiritual awakening. The world must be awakened into the reality of God and re-armed with a worldview based on God-affirming principles. This worldview should be capable of eliminating the confusion in our value system. The spiritual reality will manifest itself in political and economic strength and military resolve, but the internal dynamic must be the spiritual foundation of faith in God and true love among human beings.

The Founders

The life of Sun Myung Moon is a remarkable one in which the hand of God has been clearly visible. It is a shining example of vision, faith and love for all. Reverend Moon is dedicated to establishing a world of peace, unity and harmony under God.

Born in 1920 to a rural family in a northwestern Korean village, Reverend Moon was raised in a Christian environment. At the age of 16, Sun Myung Moon had an encounter with Jesus Christ which led him to embark on a major spiritual quest.

In 1946 at the end of World War II, as he began to teach in north Korea, he was arrested and served two and a half years in a concentration camp, until he was liberated in October 1950 by advancing American-led U.N. forces in the Korean War. In those years, many of his fellow prisoners came to him in desperation for guidance and spiritual strength. To the dying he gave the will to live. Later, Reverend Moon would recall that experience: "I never prayed from weakness. I never asked for help. How could I tell God, my Father, about my suffering, and cause His heart to grieve still more. I could only tell Him I would never be defeated by my suffering."

Following his release, Reverend Moon began teaching in south Korea where he was also persecuted and imprisoned because of his beliefs. Since then, his message and work have spread to over 130 countries on six continents.

In 1960, Reverend Moon married Miss Hak Ja Han, who has been an example of dedication and sacrifice helping to raise a world-wide movement. After more than 30 years of marriage, they are the proud parents of 13 children and many grandchildren.

If there is to be an ideal world, an infrastructure has to be built that will assist in its achievement. For this reason, Reverend Moon has founded scores of organizations that embrace religion, politics, economics, and science, stimulating a spectrum of enterprises in the media, industry, high technology, academia, humanitarian efforts as well as the arts.

Billions of dollars, generated from the many businesses and industries he founded, have been allocated to educate individuals and humanity as a whole, to embrace the original mission of Christ to become peacemakers, unifiers and harmonizers.

Only with such a commitment can true peace be born, grow and prosper, and man's exploitation of his brother be finally eliminated. It is in this spirit that The Summit Council for World Peace was founded.

We are witnessing a revision of the means and goals of progress and at the same time the revival, in the modern context, of the great plans that the French Revolution continues to trace two centuries later for the political shape of the world: to establish the basis of equality in law; to found the institutions of liberty as a joint achievement; and to work toward coexistence for all men and all people in a spirit of political plurality and peaceful dialogue.

It is a God-sent gift to a country to have a leader who can ...through the strength of faith and not his political skill, through his honesty of purpose...guide them for a better future. I hope that in South and North Korea, in the Sudan, and in other countries, which are subjected to the same sufferings, God will send us this guided leadership.

H.E. Sir El Katim El Khalifa, former President of Sudan. Third Summit Council for World Peace, Moscow, USSR, April 9-13, 1990

Now is when courageous governments should anchor themselves on the foundation of peace and solidarity, greatly superior to domination, exploitation, and profit. Democracy in the Twenty-first century will be greatly conditioned by the attitude of the great powers and by the capacity of the industrialized world to comprehend the evils provoked by financial colonialism, including the gradual impoverishment of the population of the Third World. This would be the major contribution of the developed nations to the expansion and consolidation of democracy in the Twenty-first century.

Peace cannot be defined negatively as the mere absence of war or violence. Peace is an overall concept based essentially and necessarily on an order of justice, without which true peace has no existence and there is only a circumstantial and momentary absence of war.

H.E. Francisco Morales Bermúdez, former President of Peru. Second Summit Council for World Peace, Seoul, Korea, February 2-4, 1990

The Soviet public and the leadership of our country are deeply satisfied with the fact that you are gathered in Moscow. On behalf of my colleagues, intellectuals, scientists, scholars, those from the world of culture and religion— perestroika in the Soviet Union is of major importance. These important changes, I believe, must lead to positive development the world over.
